

ABSTRACT

A filter comprises a tap multiplication circuit and a tap digital-to-analog ("DAC") unit coupled to the tap multiplication circuit. Further, a plurality of clocks are provided that control timing associated with the tap multiplication circuit and that permit one tap multiplication to be output while another tap multiplication is being computed for a $1/N$ rate implementation.